

Foundation Certificate in Clinical Practice

This 4 day course focuses on running a safe and professional practice for one to one work, either as a Therapist or as a Coach. This course covers areas not traditionally taught in NLP Master Practitioner Courses and is designed to enhance your concepts of NLP applied in the psychotherapeutic arena and the practical aspects of setting up and running a practice.

You will develop:

- A structured approach to contracting, assessing and ending relationships with clients
- A clear understanding the importance of history-taking and a sound method in conducting it
- A clear code of ethical practice
- An awareness of reflexivity and the use of self in the process of therapy and coaching
- An understanding and ability to identify serious mental health issues and what to do
- An understanding of the benefits of supervision
- A confident approach to case study writing
- Clear boundaries on scope of practice
- Your confidence in marketing your services and running your business

This course enables you to develop an excellent base for your professional coaching or therapy practice.

Who is this course for?

- NLP Master Practitioners who want to run a professional, safe and ethical practice as a coach or therapist
- NLP Master Practitioners who are considering setting up a professional practice and want to find out more
- Coaches who want to develop and enrich their professional practice
- NLP Master Practitioners considering training as professional psychotherapists

You need to be a certified NLP Master Practitioner to join this course. If you an experienced Coach or Therapist who is certified at NLP Practitioner level, you may also be eligible to join, please contact us to discuss further.

This course is taught by UKCP registered Psychotherapist and INLPTA NLP Master Trainer, Karen Meager
